MOST SENSATIONAL NEW DEAL PROPOSAL

Roosevelt First Occupant Of White House With Such Radical Attack On Wealth

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, June 20.—
President Roosevelt's bold proposal to progressively break up vast concentrations of wealth and huge industrial combines through the weapon of federal taxation presaged today one of the bitterest fights in American politics in many years.

In that connection, Mr. Roosevelt's attack on great wealth and great fortunes rather cuts the ground
from under the Huey Longs, the Pa-ther Coughlins, the Townsends, and others who have been beating the share-the-wealth tom-toms and demanding redistribution.

The president did not use the term
"share the wealth," but he advocated the principle in every paragraph of his message.

The heart of his program was contained in these words:

"The transmission from generation to generation of vast fortunes by will, inheritance or gift is not consistent with the ideals and sentiments of the American people.

"The desire to provide security for one's self and one's family is natural and wholesome, but it is adequately served by a reasonable inheritance. Great accumulations of wealth cannot be justified on the basis of personal and family security.

In the last analysis such accumulations amount to the perpetuation of great and undesirable concentration of control in a relatively few individuals over the employment and welfare of many, many others.

"Such inherited economic power is as inconsistent with the ideals

WASHINGTON, June 20.—
President Roosevelt's new
"Share-the-Wealth" tax program today threw congress into a state of feverish excitement, precipitated a battle which may shatter party lines and provoked considerable debate over its political possibilities.

Mr. Roosevelt demanded action on the program this session, despite appeals of leaders for postponement until January.

Creates Sensation

While the president's demand for inheritance and gift taxes had been foreshadowed, the tone of his special message created a sensation in

Legislators Save Pay Raise Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Bills by the wastebasketful expired in the Legislature today but in the last minute jam to save measures tagged "must" the Cannon bill increasing the salary of the lawmakers was not forgotten.

Only a few minutes before committee action on the measure would have been futile, the bill was reported to the Senate floor in position for a final vote tomorrow, the last day of the session. The House already has passed the bill. The bill increases the present $2,500 pay per session to $3,000, restoring the cut the Legislature voted itself in 1933.

PRINCIPALS IN DOUBLE MURDER

NORMAN STEWART MRS. MARY STEWART

Authorities were searching for Norman Stewart, left, after discovery of the battered bodies of his wife, Mrs. Mary Louise Stewart, 29, and her three-year-old son, in their Pittsburgh home. Stewart, a University of Pittsburgh graduate, has been reported missing since the day of the crime.

PITTSBURGH MAN SOUGHT IN SLAYINGS NOT LOCATED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 20.—A young dentist whose financial reverses forced him to become a $17 store clerk was hunted today while preparations were made to cremate the bodies of his wife and son, brutally murdered in their Wilkinsburg "depression apartment."

The hunted man, Norman Stewart
2nd, is believed by police to be either in hiding or dead. After being informed a man, who claims he has been in a daze for 10 days, was being held at Harrisburg, chief of police John Harris left for that city.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mc Clelland, Sr., arranged to bury their murdered daughter, Mary Louise Mc Clelland, and four year old grandson. Following cremation, ashes of the two will be placed in the family plot at the Saltzberg cemetery.

A possible motive for the crime was revealed today by detectives. In the little flat occupied by descendants of pioneer western Pennsylvanians, they found bills for $1,500
that Stewart owed.

judge's bench.

Every precaution was being taken

MAY REQUIRE CANDIDATES TO POST CASH DEPOSITS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Saved by an 11th hour reversal of action by the senate, the Harris bill requiring candidates for public office to post cash deposits
when filing primary election nomination papers today was expected to be rushed through to passage in the house.

The bill provides that all candidates seeking party nominations must make a deposit equal to one month's salary up to $1,000. The deposit would be returned to all candidates polling at least 10 per cent of their party's vote.

A companion measure, the Hagerty bill, approved by the house, was reported from senate committee shortly after the senate reversed its stand. The Hagerty bill would require candidates of preempted political parties to file bond of $2,500 to be forfeited unless they poll at least two per cent of the total vote cast.

As these measures advanced, the Reed bill setting up permanent registration systems for all third class cities went to Gov. George H. Earle.

Speedy Sentence Likely In Tacoma Kidnaping

(International News Service)
TACOMA, Wash., June 20.—
Whether Harmon Metz Waley and his wife, Margaret, will fight Uncle Sam's kidnaping indictment against them, will be made known today when they are arraigned here before a U. S. district judge E. E.
Cushman.

Official circles buzzed with a rumor the Waleys, captured in Salt Lake City with approximately half of the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser ransom money, will plead guilty and be sent on their way to penitentiaries before sundown this evening.

"I don't know what the Waleys plan to do, U. S. Attorney J. Charles Dennis said. "They can plead guilty and take their medicine or they can ask for a jury trial."

"If they plead guilty, their sentences will be up to Judge Cushman. I'll not recommend leniency.
If they plead not guilty, I'll ask for an early trial."

Dennis obtained three indictments against the "Egoist" snatch gang-- the Waleys and William Mahan-- yesterday from the federal grand jury which was called into special session.

The jurors indicted each of the trio under the "Kidnaping, Extortion Law" and also indicted Waley and Mahan for mailing two extortion notes demanding $200,000 from J. P.
Weyerhaeuser, lumber baron, for the release of his 9-year-old kidnapped son, George; indicted Mrs. Waley for participation in the sending of one of the notes.

Leaving the Public Square shortly after 7 o'clock today, 65 young men gathered from all parts of Lawrence county left for Butler, where they will be examined for CCC camp work.

Following the examination, 50
of the 65 will be sent to either
Fort George G. Meade or Fort Hoyle, Md., where they will be given a ten-day conditioning course and from there they will go to the Pacific Coast.

The men were taken over to Butler in automobiles driven by a number of people employed in the local relief offices. Administrator James
A. Moorhead, headed the delegation and was accompanied by William Young and a group of office workers who drove their cars to Butler.

There is a possibility that the New Castle men may be under the command of New Castle officers on the coast. It is understood that Captain John B. Brettle and First Lieutenant Paul A. Welsh are to leave for the Pacific Coast shortly to take over camps there and will probably go to the coast in command of camp workers.

INQUIRY BOARD TO BE APPOINTED

"Immediate, Diligent And Thorough" Investigation Is Ordered By
Senate

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—By unanimous vote, the Senate
early today ordered an "immediate, diligent and thorough" investigation into Gov. George
H. Earle's charge that Senator
William H. Clark, Chester Republican, solicited a bribe from two administration officials.

A special inquiry committee of five members, three Republicans and two Democrats, was to be named later today by President Pro Tem
John Homsher, Lancaster, to conduct the probe. The extreme recommendation it could make would be expulsion of Clark from the Senate.

Turns Over Records
Authorization of the investigation came on the heels of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's action in turning over to District Attorney Karl Richards, of Dauphin county, the transcript of six doublefaced records purporting to record a conversation at which the bribe solicitation was made.

Governor Earle's accusation was based upon the conversation re-night, in which a voice identified as Clark's offered to obtain Senate approval of several appropriations de-

PROBE KANSAS COAL MINE MUTINY

Start Inquiry To Get Leaders

Terms In Solitary Confinement Face Those At Head Of Revolt

HEAVY DAMAGE IS DONE TO MINE

(International News Service)
LANSING, Kan., June 20.—A stern inquiry was underway today to single the ringleaders of the Kansas state penitentiary coal mine mutiny.

All 348 of the rioters were back in their cells awaiting action by the prison board and Warden Lacey Simpson. He said he believed not more than thirty or forty were actually responsible for the revolt; that the others followed along like "sheep."

Solitary Confinement Looms
Those guilty of inciting the sensational rebellion will be slapped in solitary confinement, for varying periods depending on their responsibility.

A thorough checkup of the damage done by the convicts, had not yet been completed. Twenty hours after the mutiny was broken up, Warden Simpson said, however, that it may run as high as $30,000 or $40,000, including time lost while repairs are being made.

PRESIDENT'S ACT PRESAGES BITTER POLITICAL BATTLE

of this generation as inherited political power was inconsistent with the ideals of the generation which established our government."

Declare Economic Independence.
In other words, Mr. Roosevelt proposes that the American colonists declared their political independence of British imperial domination 150 years ago, so now the congress should declare the people's economic independence from the power of enormous personal fortunes and the vast industrial empires they create.

The soap-boxers of all parties have advocated much the same thing for years, but Mr. Roosevelt is the first occupant of the White House to give voice to it in such plain words. Other presidents from time to time have skirted the edges of it, but refrained from the frank avowal that the accumulation of huge money should be prevented from perpetuating itself.

To accomplish his program, Mr. Roosevelt would (1) impose "very high" inheritance and gift taxes on large estates, (2) impose "very high" taxes on incomes in excess of $1,000,000, and (3) impose a graduated tax on corporate net incomes, ranging from 103-4 per cent to 163-4 per cent. The resultant income to the government—which he did not attempt to estimate, and the treasury only guesses at—would be ear-marked in the treasury, under his program, and devoted to reduction of the public debt, now more than $30,000,000,000. Congress fairly gasped when the implications of the program sank home, and as its members envisioned the political battling that lies ahead. The conservatives of both parties were somewhat aghast; the progressives and so-called liberals delighted. But there was common agreement that Mr. Roosevelt's program for almost confiscatory taxation of great wealth is easily the most sensational development of the entire new deal.

"SHARE-THE-WEALTH" TAX PROGRAM OF ROOSEVELT SENSATION

members declared that the president had seized the leadership of the "Share-the-Wealth" movement from the Louisiana "Kingfish."

Two proposals, the president indicated, can wait until the next session. They are use of the tax power to break up big holding companies of all kinds, and a constitutional amendment permitting taxation of tax-exempt securities.

President's Program
The president's full program includes:

1. Taxation of inheritances (as distinguished from the present estate tax) to break up big fortunes. Gift taxes also to be levied. Money to be earmarked to reduce national debt.

2. Rearrangement of breaks on income taxes above $1,000,000 a year.

3. Graduated tax on corporations from 10% per cent on small corporations to 16% per cent on big corporations. Present rate is 13% per cent, with exemptions for small corporations.

4. Levying of high taxes on holding companies with a view to abolishing them.

5. Constitutional amendment permitting taxation of tax-exempt securities.

Some leading Democrats in congress, it is known, appealed to Mr. Roosevelt to withhold his message on taxation until the next session of congress. Senate leaders in particular privately declared they opposed action at this time.

While the president recommended no specific rates, the treasury is said to have prepared inheritance tax schedules designed to raise $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 a year.

SENATE ORDERS PROBE OF EARLE'S BRIBERY CHARGE

Clark insurance firm was permitted to retain the business of insuring state liquor stores. Clark is chairman of the Senate appropriations committee.

Richards had not decided what action, if any, he would take to prosecute Clark. After receiving a report of the charge from Margiotti, Richards said:

"From the report received from the attorney general we are impressed with the seriousness of this case. The evidence and the law applying to the situation will be thoroughly studied and we will bring prosecution on the facts justifying."

Several Hours Of Wrangling
The Senate's action came after several hours of partisan wrangling which finally was settled when Republicans agreed to increase the investigating committee membership from three to five and to limit the scope of the probe to the Clark case. This was done by deleting a phrase authorizing the committee also to probe "all other similar matters."

Democrats originally fought to have the Senate sit as a committee of the whole to air the charges.

Clark maintained his silence on the accusations today, saying he would have no reply to make to the governor's charges until after the Senate probe was completed. The resolution for the investigation, sponsored from the Republican side of the chamber, calls upon the committee to make its report to the current session which ends Saturday or to the president pro tempore as soon as it completes its work.

The appropriations mentioned in the telephone conversation included a $250,000 allocation for a rate valuation of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, $20,000 for the House liquor probe committee, and a $20,000 increase in the Department of Justice appropriation. The voice also said he would obtain Senate confirmation of the Milk Control Board.

As up for final action in the Senate today, the general appropriation bill carries a $200,000 appropriation for the P. R. T., $23,000 for the liquor committee and a $10,000 boost for salaries in the Justice Department. The milk board nominees have not been confirmed.

MORRO CASTLE DISASTER ENTERS SENATE PROBE

Shipping Board Chairman Hutch I. Cone and J. W. Barnett, formerly director of the shipping board bureau, out of office.

Appearing for the second day of the Senate's investigation of his charges of graft and corruption, Mitchell said he was for months a stormy petrel in the Commerce Department.

"I was always stirring things up," he said. "I constantly called the secretary's attention to bad conditions."

"Do you think your charges had anything to do with Admiral Cone's quitting?" asked Senator Fletcher (D) of Florida.

"I certainly do. I filed 23 charges against Admiral Cone. They couldn't afford to leave this man in there after I filed those charges."

Copeland Skeptical
Copeland said he did not believe that dereliction in inspection was responsible for the Morro Castle disaster.

"I say it may have been a contributing factor," Mitchell qualified. "It may have been responsible."

Mitchell said that one shipping concern—the Diamond Line—attempted to send him a $50 box of cigars.

"Why, one Christmas I received a box of cigars from the Diamond Company," he said. "I learned that the cigars were worth fifty dollars. I was told that a wagonload of these cigars were brought to the shipping board."

"Now there was no reason for this concern to send me cigars. That sort of thing is bad. It's bad."

The Bureau of Air Commerce came under Mitchell's attack, too. He stood on his assertion made earlier in a letter to President Roosevelt that efficient management of this division might have "spared" the lift of the late Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, killed with four others in an air crash near Macon, Mo.

BRUNO'S COUNSEL IS ON DEFENSIVE

which they base their appeal. Almost half the time of the morning session was taken up by the questions of the judges and the answers of the lawyers.

"Did the defendant's counsel object to this? Did you take an exception? Didn't you owe that duty to the court and to your client?"

Again and again these questions were shot at Egbert Rosecrans, of defense counsel, as he argued his points for appeal.

And almost every time the admission came:

"No."

About the only explanation was: "Edward J. Reilly was chief of defense counsel."

The judges were plainly critical of the conduct of the defense during the trial. On the other hand, however, they seemed impatient with apparently hair-splitting points raised by the appellants today.

Rosecrans submitted a 130-page brief containing the 16 points on which the appeal is based. The 16 points charge that Hauptmann had been unfairly tried, that he had been "bullied and browbeaten" by the state, that his constitutional and common law rights had been violated, that the charge to the jury of Justice Thomas W. Trenchard had been prejudicial to him.

At one point Justice Joseph L. Bodine interjected:

"All you object to is that the attorney general didn't give you a chance to reply to his charged theory (of the murder) in his summation?"

"Yes," replied Rosecrans.

"Did you ask the court for an opportunity to reply?"

"No," Rosecrans admitted, "I didn't think it was possible legally to reply. I should like to answer this question in detail, but I can only say Mr. Reilly was chief counsel."

taxes, for one year from next June 20, instead of two years, as voted by the house.

A preliminary effort by Senators Lefollette to tack on to the measure rate increases in the higher income brackets, as proposed by President Roosevelt, was defeated.

Explaining the Senate's one year extension of the nuisance tax, Senator Harrison said the committee was hopeful that conditions would so improve by a year from July that the taxes could be abolished.

Harrison also said he was of the opinion that the president's new tax proposals were "too far reaching" to permit a vote at this session, although they would be studied.

Relief Subjects Camp In Office

Refuse To Leave Kittanning Office When Immediate Demands For Clothing Are Ignored

(International News Service)

KITTANNING, Pa., June 20.—Fifteen Furnace Run relief subjects who backed their demands for "quick service" by spending the night on the spot, were "camped" today in the waiting room of relief headquarters here.

Appearing at the relief office yesterday afternoon, the men demanded they be given clothing at once. Told they would have to make application in the proper procedure, they balked. Ignored by relief aides, the men snorted:

"We'll stay right here 'till we get 'em."

And stay they did. When the office was opened this morning, the men were right where they were last night at closing time—in the waiting room.

WORLD'S STRONGEST SUSPENSION CABLE

The ultimate strength of the suspension cable in the George Washington Bridge over the Hudson River is 93,600 tons.

STRENGTH BRINGS PROTECTION

—and the strongest motor oils naturally bring the greatest protection to your engine. Use the oils that are 3 times stronger!

ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS

THESE two test-bearings indicate how the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS reduce wear and keep down repair bills.

Both bearings were subjected to identical tests in the Almen Film-Strength Testing Machine, developed by General Motors. The left-hand bearing illustrates the protection of New High Film-Strength ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS. The right-hand bearing shows what can happen when an oil film breaks under pressure.

ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS hold wear at a minimum because they provide a surface-protecting film 3 times stronger than the average of 67 kinds of motor oil, including well-known brands. 3656 tests prove it!

And these new oils not only resist high pressures... but they hold their lubricating qualities at high engine temperatures, giving added protection in hot-weather driving. They form less sludge even than before.

Guard YOUR engine with the revolutionary new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS!

• This test-bearing was protected by High Film-Strength ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL. It remained smooth and unscathed at pressures of greater than 7½ tons per square inch.

• This bearing was lubricated by another oil with a national reputation. The oil film was ruptured, and the bearing badly scored, at pressures of about 2½ tons.

JULY FOURTH DANGERS

JULY 4 soon will be here.
It might be well for the general public to give a little thought beforehand to the dangers and perils liable to be encountered on that day, and determine to observe safety-first precautions.

Unless a large number of lives are lost through accidents on the Fourth, the holiday observance this year will be much different from those of the past. It was not so many years ago, that discussion of a "safe and sane" Fourth dealt largely with the use of firecrackers and firearms in celebrating the day. Much wider territory now is included.

Each July 4 sees lives sacrificed in the air, on land and in the water. A tremendous variety of direct causes may be involved, but behind all these as a background is that of carelessness or recklessness. Even persons usually careful where their own safety or the safety of others is at stake often are inclined to let down a little under the stimulus of the holiday spirit. Either their own life or that of someone else may be the penalty.

Many children would be saved from death on the Fourth if their parents displayed a little more diligence and effort in seeing that proper safeguards surrounded them in their holiday pursuits.

The perils of crowded highways are too well known to need to be emphasized.

If everyone would make it a special point on July 4 to observe carefully the fundamental rules of safety generally, the toll of life taken on that day would be greatly reduced.

ANOTHER PET FEAR ELIMINATED

For several years the downward trend in the birth rate created the fear that it was only a question of time until this would be an uninhabited continent, unless the surplus resulting from the Italian and Soviet "more children" campaigns was transported to these shores.

But like many of our depression fears, this one seems to have no foundation. Business is picking up, and so is the birth rate in Pennsylvania, according to the state health bulletin.

The state is being saved for posterity, and so now we discover we have been worrying about nothing. But this is not the first time that has occurred. Most worries are about as futile.

ALASKAN TROUBLES

The discouraging advices concerning the several plights of the government's synthetic Alaskan pioneers continue to pour in, taking our mind off the weather.

The late news from the Matanuska valley is as upsetting as the earlier dispatches. The pioneers, it seems, have had to carry water because a dilatory government did not get the wells dug in time. Some of them didn't understand they were to farm, although they signed up for forty acres each. They thought there would be carpenter work and highway construction in Alaska. Possibly some of them pictured jobs painting flagpoles, pressing suits, delivering groceries and other work of that type.

This is a sad story, that tale of the disappointment of those rugged pioneers; think of that erstwhile Michigan farmer who had to carry a bucket of water to his family a mile away, and weep with him when he says he "didn't travel 4,000 miles to become a water boy." The federal government is notoriously and entirely shameless concerning such matters. Otherwise it would do something about it.

DISTRIBUTING WEALTH

There is a great deal of talk now about "distribution of wealth." Most people favor it in some degree, openly or secretly, because most people have less than average wealth, and want more. It is probably a good idea to distribute wealth—but much depends on how you do it.

What nearly all of us try to do is to collect as much as we can and distribute as little as we can. And most of us don't see that, if the effort succeeds, we all go broke.

This, as a matter of fact, is what has been happening to us, and will probably continue to happen as long as we coax ourselves into thinking that individual greed works better, as a social policy, than general fairness and good will.

Sharing wealth forcibly will never make any nation rich. Sharing wealth voluntarily, by more friendly co-operation in the various processes and contracts of life, might make us all rich. At least, it could make us feel rich.

It is greed that wrecks our economic system—everybody trying to get too much and thereby nearly everybody getting too little.

Some of us are beginning to suspect, without any special pretense of religion or benevolence, but as an economic truth, that if anything will save our economic society from these great and growing cyclic disasters, it is the Golden Rule.

REASSURING BALANCE

How infectious—speaking of the country as a whole—is the wailer at Washington? Granting that more than the usual confusion exists in the nation's capital, has the country caught the jitters because policies are not understood or, perhaps, not clearly defined and because politics is entering with considerable rapidity into the stages preceding a presidential campaign? Is the heat of the coming summer getting into the heads of the populace a little ahead of time?

Maybe so; but there seem to be balancing elements. Mr. Average Citizen continues to go about his business, whatever there may be of it and such as it is. A good many housewives have interpreted the recent supreme court NRA decision as a mandate to keep their eyes upon for bargains. The baseball season is getting into its stride. A large number of college graduates are receiving the usual good advice and the customary blessings. New York has just welcomed the biggest ship in the world. San Diego has happily opened a fair. So far as known, the constitution still is extant, with Senator Borah having an elegant opportunity to speak well of it.

Somehow, all these things and a good many others make for at least a degree of confidence. A great deal that is disturbing and, in a sense, abnormal occupies the nation's thought a part of the time, but a considerable amount of healthy attention is being given to the normal and the natural. There still is hope that the balance, by and large, will be fairly preserved, with problems of greater or less importance solved in due course for the very good reason that they do not become obsessions to the exclusion of everything else.

PLANT AN OAK

IF YOU'RE planning a garden, plant an oak.

Don't say: "But oaks grow so slowly. I want trees that will make a showing right away."

Don't worry about that—oaks grow much faster than you think. Before you know it, almost, an oak will be towering far above your head.

Plant other things, too, but be sure to plant an oak. Plant an acacia. It will grow swiftly and make yellow bloom in the spring, and grow old soon, and break apart. Plant yarrow by a wall, plant hollyhocks that climb toward the sky in a season, plant roses that climb and adorn a wall and shower you with petals. Plant dahlias that die down each year, plant primrose that wear themselves out in the making of beauty, plant that leggy butterfly bush that fills a corner in a year, plant petunias and tulips and gladiolus and all those other flowers that make a riot of color in your garden. Plant little things that delicately grow close to the crevices of a rock.

But plant an oak. It has small leaves. You will not notice its flowers. The bees will not swarm about it. Even the birds will not nest in it at first. It will not, in its youth, make much of a show. But it will last. It will not die down in a season. It will anchor itself deep in your earth and make plans for a long life. And you will say to yourself: "This tree will last longer on this earth than I ever shall. It will make a shade when I am gone. And though people will never wonder who planted that tree, they will admire the noble fellow and be grateful for its company."

Plant an oak in yourself. Live lightly, do foolish things, waste some of your time extravagantly. Don't be so solemn. Don't imagine that everything you do or say is important. Drop that black disguise of dignity and decorum and be the General Idiot you'd like to be. But somewhere in your changing heart, plant an oak. Take one corner of yourself seriously. Guard one part. Decide that this one thing in life is important and worth protecting. I don't know what that one thing is for you, I'm not saying what it is for me—but I know that it exists and is an oak that will survive and shelter your life when all the light things and the trivial interests have gone back to nothingness again.

You'll not be sorry that you planted an oak.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A "DATE" AND HOW!

There have been Expositions and Expositions in these United States, but never in the history of any Exposition have sixty-three thousand sailors of the United States Navy been turned loose in the Exposition grounds.

The Pacific Fleet, entire, after their maneuvers, came to anchor in San Diego Bay and the Coronado Roads, on June 10th, for a stay of ten days. Sixty-three thousand men and officers—free admissions—and almost to man, these sailors have visited the grounds.

The restaurateurs, toward evening, throw up their hands in despair. "We have no hot dogs; we have no sandwiches; we have nothing. The sailors have eaten everything."

concessionaires have made no outcry, because of the depredations of these wild-eyed men, who are enjoying their first shore-leave for more than a month.

They push the barkers off their stands in the Fun Zone and proceed to do the barking themselves. One barker, standing to one side, and watching the performance, admitted that he might lose his job, if that particular sailor who was doing the barking could be available.

The petite Senoritas selling flowers about the grounds are particularly admired by the sailors, and these Senoritas are clever.

One night, one by one, sailors began to congregate around the West gate until there were nearly five hundred sailors in the crowd. They did not make a move to go anywhere or do anything. Finally, one sailor turned to another and said, "Buddy, have you a date tonight?"

The other replied, "Yes and How! The prettiest Senorita on the grounds has promised to meet me here." All of the sailors were wearing flowers and each looked at the other. At last one of them said, "I am the son of a barnacle if I stay around here. That girl has promised to meet all of us here if we bought a flower. Let's go."

And so on, far into the night.

Rudy Vallee returned home the other day and took pictures of a lot of old familiar scenes around the main street of the old home town and not a single person recognized him. Such is the price of fame.

PARDON ME!

"I tell you that I won't have this room," protested the old lady to the bell-boy, who was conducting her. "I ain't going to pay my good money for a pig-sty, with a messy little folding bed in it. If you think that because I'm from the country, 'Profundly disgusted, the boy cut her short. 'Get in, mum, get in. This ain't your room, this is the elevator."

It was once considered dangerous to have your portrait painted for fear some evilly disposed person might stick pins into it, which would endanger the person portrayed. If that were the case, there are some people we know whose picture you wouldn't be able to see for the pins.

Scene at an Inn on the New Castle-New Bedford road: Girl sitting at a table sipping water or something, to another young woman who just came in, "I think that big fine looking man standing over there has been taken suddenly ill. A few minutes ago he and I were beginning to get right friendly, when all of a sudden he turned pale and quit looking my way." Other woman, "Perhaps he saw me coming in, I'm his wife." Oh, Oh.

The Girl Next Door was in a cynical mood the other day. She said that all things come to the other fellow if you wait long enough.

A young man walked pensively into the village post office.

"Any letters for me today?" he asked the postmistress.

"No, Henry," she replied rather sharply.

"That's strange," he murmured, half to himself.

"Nothing strange about that, young man," replied the postmistress. "You haven't answered her last letter yet."

"That was easy," the knowing one explained. "He accidentally dropped a $10 bill into a grinding machine."

The mistress of the house heard the bell ring and saw standing at the open front door, a Chinese hawk. Quickly retreating she called out to the maid:

Currency Inflation Avoided.
Credit Speculation Goes On.
Gold And Silver Not Wealth.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, June 20.—There seems to be a general opinion now that the United States will not have currency inflation.

The danger—as many see it—lies in a channel not so readily observable to the public. The United States has huge stocks of gold and silver, and bank reserves are a peak hitherto undreamed of. All the ammunition is at hand for a flood-tide of speculation.

"That is a form of inflation with which 'rich' countries are afflicted."

WHAT IS WEALTH?
Are gold and silver actual wealth? Are immense bank reserves wealth?

If so, there should be a moderate fortune for every inhabitant of the United States. There would be nobody on relief rolls.

But even the wealthy man does not find these symbols wealth. Trade is wealth—and there still is not sufficient trade to cause the use of the symbols of exchange, gold and silver and currency.

BANK RESERVES
Bank reserves are not always the savings of individuals. They are not always the wealth of individuals. They may be, instead, the debts of a nation.

A large part of the present reserves are government funds gained through borrowings.

FOREIGN VIEW OF U. S.

An interesting view of the American economic situation as compared to Germany's when it resorted to disastrous inflation is given by Dr. Gustav Stolper, German economist, visiting in America.

Says Dr. Stolper, former editor of the Berlin Economist:

"You Americans cannot learn anything from the German inflation to guide you during this period because conditions in the two countries have been so utterly different. Germany has been so utterly different. German inflation is a direct aftermath of her war experience. Her resources were exhausted, her raw materials, factories and population starved."

"There was no possible way for her to expand her productive system to keep pace with the financial demands of the government. The result, therefore, was that she depleted her capital funds. There is no danger of that happening in your country."

"Furthermore, Germany drifted into inflation because there was no limitation placed upon her reparation payments. There was no incentive for her to balance her budget, because any surplus was immediately demanded as reparation payment by the victorious allied countries. Not until the Dawes plan was adopted was the incentive for a balanced budget restored."

"There is not a chance of your country being submitted to the causes that led Germany into inflation."

Conditions in this country will not improve until each individual citizen improves himself and makes ready to take advantage of bigger and better opportunities when they arrive.

It won't be long now until prosperity will come back to the "ole swimmin' hole."

flation. Your dollar cannot be further devalued by outside influences. It can be cheapened only by action of your own government, and I do not think that is likely."

SEES NO U. S. DANGER
Dr. Stolper said he did not believe inflation could take hold in the vast productive capacity of this country, and its highly organized competitive economy. He relies upon competition to hold prices at a reasonable level.

"I see no immediate danger in your unbalanced federal budget. Your national debt is not out of line with your national income. Nevertheless, no nation can afford to go on indefinitely with an unbalanced budget."

The action of government bond prices will be the best index to inflation potentialities in the United States. Dr. Stolper believes. He is certain inflation is definitely impossible as long as government bond prices remain near their present level and interest rates as low as now. He foresees no immediate, or for that matter, any future weakening of government bond prices.

"However, if such a weakening should come it would be a direct indication of possible inflation, especially if it were accompanied by higher interest rates," he explained. "That condition would find the government and private industry competing for capital with the interest rate advancing. It goes without saying that such a situation could change your whole outlook for inflation. But I think the federal treasury is aware of that danger and will not permit it to happen."

Decentralization For State Relief

Joint Legislative Committee Recommends New Method
Of Handling Relief

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20—Immediate decentralization of administration of relief in Pennsylvania was recommended Wednesday by a joint legislative committee which investigated the distribution of aid to the needy.

"Relief administration in the opinion of a majority of the committee should be decentralized to a much greater extent than at present and the local boards should be given authority to make such rules as will provide reasonable relief at a minimum expense to the taxpayers," the committee urged in its preliminary report of the legislature.

Minority Report
Rep. Joseph D. Burke, Philadelphia, filed a minority report opposing decentralization of the relief setup. He said decentralization would lead to discrimination in hiring visitors and minor executives. "We feel that state director of relief, Robert L. Johnson, is making an honest effort to cope with a difficult situation but the bureaucratic system which has been built up will make such an effort to a great extent fruitless," the committee majority reported to the legislature. "If a local board with larger powers and responsible to the appointing power or to the electors as the case may be, is created by law in each of the counties to begin functioning at a future time to be fixed by the director of relief under certain limits, we feel it will be a decided step toward reduction of the relief rolls and the cost thereof."

Library Adds New Biography Volume

Dictionary Of American Biography Is Received; Has Won Acclaim

New Castle's Free Public library shelves now carry the new Dictionary of American Biography, Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian, announced today.

Viewed by librarians the country over as "invaluable" and "indispensable," the New York Times, in editorial comment, claims "the work will come to be regarded as essential in every library of reference, public, school or private, in the United States."

The Times went on to say that "it keeps the memory of thousands whose contributions would otherwise be forgotten as the years and centuries march on" and "not only is it the definitive biographical history of America up to this decade but it is the durable basis for all that is to be written of the first 300 years."

PRIVATE PENSION SYSTEMS APPROVED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Senate today voted decisively to permit private pension systems to continue in existence when President Roosevelt's social security legislation is enacted.

The vote came on the amendment of Senator Clark (D) Missouri, exempting private pension systems under which employers provide for their workers standards as high as or higher than those coming under the security program, from the federal tax for the government pension.

On Court House Hill

County Treasurer William O. Pitts reports that collections of county and poor taxes yesterday amounted to $3,396.88.

Roy Hinkle, whose bail was forfeited and for whom a process was issued following his conviction on a charge of circulating obscene literature, has not yet turned up at the sheriff's office. He lives in Akron, O.

Jurors summoned for the second week of criminal court only got in two days while those for the first week got in five. It's generally a disadvantage to be called for the second week, especially if you're out of employment.

Considerable interest will attach to the return of the books of registering assessors to the county commissioners office on July 18. The books will be of interest to candidates, as they will indicate the party affiliations of electors, and the changes of party affiliations since the last registration.

Word has been received by the Mothers' Assistance board, which administers old age pensions, that delayed checks are likely to come through soon. The April pension payroll was certified by the state secretary of welfare to the state treasurer on May 23. Pensioners are becoming used to delays in securing their money, but are glad to get it when it does come.

The state legislature has reached the delicate stage where delay in advancing almost any bill spells its doom. Bills must be read three times on three separate days before they can come up for final roll call vote in either house. By passing a bill finally in one house and reading it the first time in the other the same day, a bill can reach the governor's desk in five days. With the days of the session definitely numbered it is easy to see how a bill dies if it misses getting advanced even for one day.

County Commissioners were out on East Washington street extension yesterday viewing a property which is alleged to have been damaged by the highway department turning water drains on the land. The owner had signed a release of damages not expecting that the water from ditches would be turned on his land, but when the job had been completed seven ditches turned the water in on him. It is believed that arrangements can be made with the highway department to eliminate the drains, or some of them at least. The commissioners have had considerable trouble with water drains being turned on land. It is believed that if the engineers who draw the plans would inspect the land they would be more familiar with actual conditions and could obviate much of the difficulty.

The county commissioners have presented a petition to court to sell property formerly owned by Charles P. Harrington heirs in the Berger and Hartman plan in Union township to Preston and Carrie Jones for $100. The property was sold to the county for taxes in June, 1930 and the right to redemption expired in June, 1930. Monday, July 1st has been fixed as a date for hearing.

Quite a number of taxpayers have been at the county treasurer's office to take advantage of the new delinquent tax act, by paying up this year's taxes and their delinquent taxes over a period of five years as provided for under the act. However the treasurer cannot accept payments until the court hands down a declaratory judgment on the questions that have been submitted under the friendly suit brought by the commissioners against the county treasurer, controller, delinquent tax collectors, and citizens to determine just what authority the county has to eliminate the payment of interest and penalties on the delinquent taxes. The act under which the county has dealt with delinquent taxes in the past is what is known as the Venango act, which was originally passed for Venango county and later extended to this county.

West Pittsburgh Boy Will Direct Pension Bureau

John T. Howell Appointed As Head Of Pension Work In Detroit, Mich.

Under the caption "Expert Heads City Age Pension Zone", Detroit papers announce the appointment of John T. Howell as Wayne county director for the Old Age Pension Bureau.

Howell has been associated with the welfare department for the city of Detroit, and at the suggestion of Dr. Philip A. Callahan, State head of the Old Age Pension Bureau, the welfare department agreed to "loan" the Pension Bureau one of its most experienced employees for six months, and Howell was selected. He has been with the welfare department seven years. He has been in charge of one of its district offices, and more recently has been on hospital and special investigation service. He will begin his work at once.

The Pension Bureau was set up by legislative enactment in the last session, and $2,000,000 appropriated to finance it. Maximum payments of $30.00 a month to persons 70 years of age or over will be made in indigent cases.

The request for Howell's services was a part of Callahan's plan for close co-operation with the welfare department in the investigation of applicants and the granting of pensions in Detroit.

Mr. Howell is a Lawrence County man, having been raised in West Pittsburg.

Vanished Redmond Recalls Olden Days

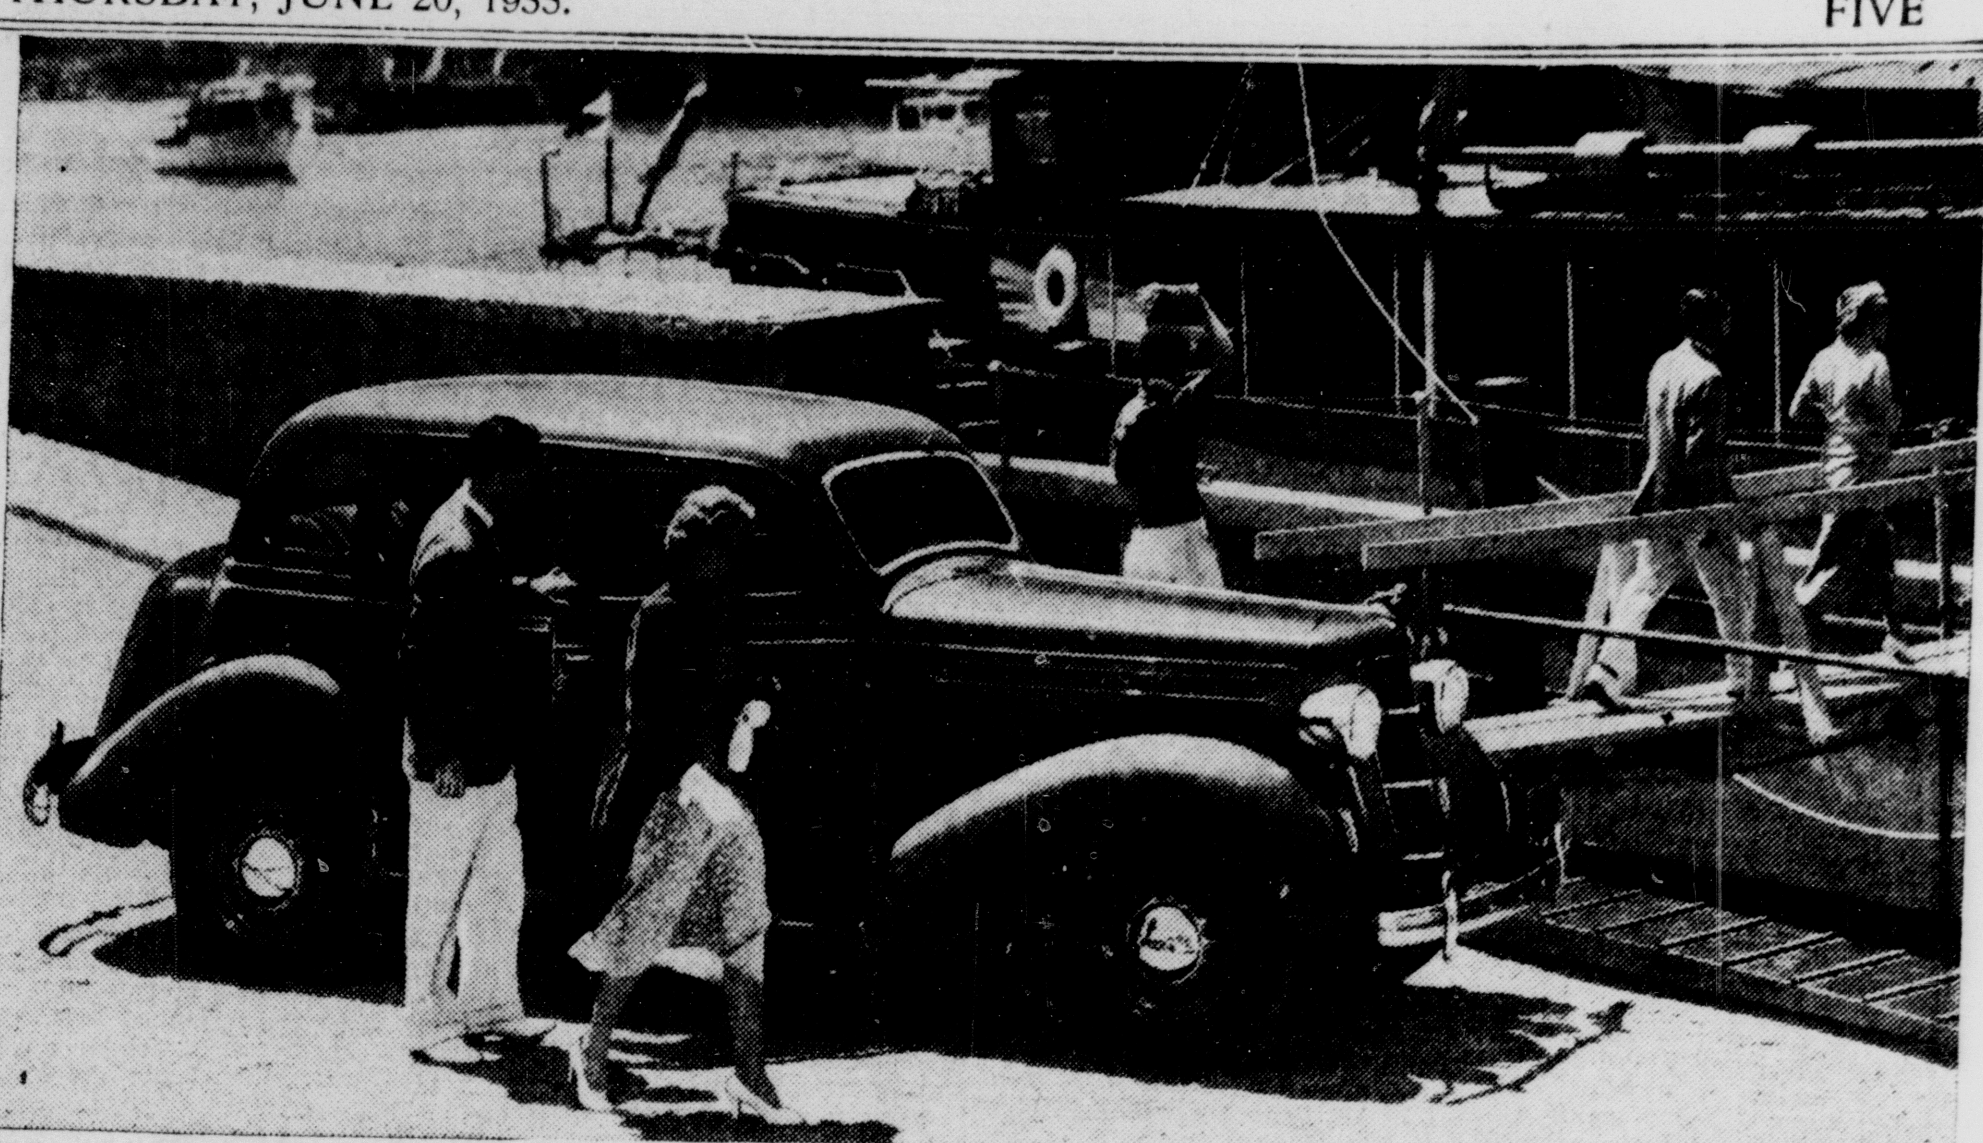

Village Was Once Well-Known
Landmark For Slippery Rock Students

SLIPPERY ROCK, June 20 — Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" has nothing on the little mining town which was once Redmond, which stood between here and Slippery Rock, in Northern Butler county.

Today, not a single house stands in this small village where hundreds of thousands of tons of coal were mined and sent to the industrial centers of Pennsylvania.

Hundreds of students at Slippery Rock Normal school will remember the small center where they alighted from the train to be hauled by "back" through axle-deep mud to the dormitories at the school, two miles away.

For years, the mines, which once were the best in all the district, have been closed. The town, which was a small railroad center, gradually faded out of the picture.

"2 MONTHS FREE GAS AND OIL FROM MY NEW DODGE"

THAT'S BECAUSE IT GIVES ME 4 MORE MILES PER GALLON OF GAS AND SAVES 15% ON OIL."

(The true experience of a Dodge owner in New York)

MR. JOHN O. SIROT, Bronxville, N. Y.

FREE ECONOMY TEST... right before your eyes, Dodge will prove its amazing gasoline economy. You can actually see how far Dodge cars go on a small amount of gas with the visible gas tank. See your Dodge dealer.

"I SELECTED a Dodge because I like a big, comfortable car, and I demand the safety of hydraulic brakes and all-steel body," explains Mr. John O. Sirot, 77 Pondfield Road, Bronxville, N. Y. "To my surprise I soon discovered that my Dodge was getting four more miles per gallon than my old car. With the amount of mileage I average each year, I figure that this saving on gasoline, plus savings on oil, gives me at least two months driving absolutely 'free'."

This cash-on-the-line economy is no accident. It is engineered into the New-Value Dodge.

The powerful Dodge "Red Ram" engine has automatic spark advance... automatic choke... spray-cooled exhaust valves... and a combination of many advancements that save Dodge owners money every mile they drive.

And you get more than economy in the new Dodge. You get a car that is almost effortless to drive because of its Synchronic driving control. A car built for safety with its Dodge all-steel body and genuine hydraulic brakes. You get big-car performance with economy of operation that owners say is unequalled even by small, competitive makes.

See your Dodge dealer now. Drive the New-Value Dodge. Test its economy... see what a remarkable car you can own for only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars.

New Post Office For Beaver County

Indications One Will Be Built Either At Beaver Or
Beaver Falls

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—A new post office will probably be commenced at either Beaver Falls or Beaver during the coming fiscal year, it would appear from testimony by treasury department officials before the house appropriations committee.

The officials appeared before the committee to urge a lump sum of $58,000,000 for federal building construction in the fiscal year. They testified this would permit a new post office in every congressional district. Reporting the second deficiency appropriation bill Wednesday, the committee included this amount.

The new post offices would be located in cities on a list approved by congress. On this list in the Lawrence-Butler-Beaver county congressional district are included Beaver and Beaver Falls. This would seem to indicate one of these two places will receive a new post office within the next few months.

Limit of cost is specified as $225,000 for Beaver Falls and $90,000 for Beaver. Other cities on the list from which those to receive buildings will be selected include Coraopolis, Sharon, Farrell, Meadville, and Little Washington.

SECURE POSITIONS

Of the fifteen local students who received degrees at the 81st Westminster commencement last week, several have made definite plans for the future, while the others are undecided at the present time. Clem Lausberg will attend Harvard Business College, and will do extension work in the business and

Nelson Greer is negotiating with a construction company. Patricia Jones, Martha Byers, Richard Davis, William Patterson, Lola Sewall, Ivan Yahn, and Evelyn Osborne are undecided as to the immediate future.

According to one automobile executive, one of the largest contributing causes of traffic accidents is failure of many drivers to signal or to indicate to other drivers their intention to turn, stop, or start.

Administration's Power And Utility Program Faces Drastic Modifications

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The administration's power and utility program today faced drastic modifications in the house.
Despite President Roosevelt's insistence on unhampered extension of TVA operations in the government power field and his militant pleas for abolition of utility holding companies, the military affairs committee favors a compromise measure placing numerous restrictions on the authority's activities, while an interstate commerce sub-committee rejected the utility holding company abolition provision.
The new TVA bill would prohibit sale of government power at less than production costs after 1938, supervise TVA procurements under and force the authority to operate under the system of accounting acceptable to the Federal Power commission.
Although confident the compromise will alter the committee's 13 to 12 vote in rejecting the original bill, Chairman McSwain, of South Carolina said a brisk floor battle is in prospect.

What About Polo Asks Ellery Verdantschnozzle?

Now that the Sunday movie bill has passed the General Assembly and placed on the governor's desk for approval, New Castle can prepare for another issue to be on the ballot in the November general election. The bill provides for a referendum in the matter and where cities approve the idea motion pictures can be opened after two p. m. on Sunday.

By some devious line of cerebration the same General Assembly that passed the Sunday movie bill refused to permit the polo and tennis bills to pass. All of which urges Ellery Verdantschnozzle of Old Hickory to take his pen in hand and write a letter to The News. Because Mr. Verdantschnozzle never got beyond the third grade the letter cannot be produced in full, but the gist of the letter is this:

"It's an outrage," said Mr. E. V. "They let the baseball fellows play on Sunday and they let the footballers kick themselves into unconsciousness and now they propose to let the movies open on Sunday. What about us polo and tennis players?"

"What about it," repeats Mr. E. V. in capital letters, (or maybe the ink just smeared). "Does the present administration, think that our American blood won't boil at such discrimination? Does the governor think that all the votes are cast by baseball, football and movie patrons?"

"No, no, a thousand times no," here Mr. Verdantschnozzle became lyrical, "the day will come when the polo players will mount their horses and driving to the very gates of the capital (doors Mr. Verdantschnozzle) with tennis racquets in their hands will demand their rights."

At this point the letter becomes a little incoherent, apparently blotted by tears. What Mister Ellery Verdantschnozzle apparently is trying to get across is that the polo players and tennis players are most unhappy.

P. S.—A later letter from Mister Ellery Verdantschnozzle makes a correction. He thought polo was played on roller skates. When he retracted his statements insofar as polo was concerned, "That's out," said he. "If they play it in motor cars I'll renew my objection."

Naval Building Race May Start

Foreign Powers Alarmed As Indications Point To Naval Building Race

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 20.—Whether the new German-British 35-to-100 naval ratio understanding "will facilitate a general naval limitation agreement among all the naval powers of the world," as London and Berlin think, or will start the world on a new ship-building race, as France and Russia indicate, was the problem that gripped Europe.

Britain's main task, now that the agreement with Germany is an accomplished fact, was to placate France, which has already served notice she may build beyond the tonnage limits fixed under the Washington treaty.

To this end Lord Privy Seal Anthony Eden is going to Paris this week to suggest holding a European naval conference, with Britain, France, Italy, Russia and Germany attending, as a preliminary to the five-or seven-power world conference.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 20.—Helen Morgan, torch singer, sang the divorce court blues Wednesday—by proxy.

A long and dolorous story of cruelty won her a divorce from Maurice (Buddy) Maschke, Jr., Cleveland attorney. The testimony was given by Miss Morgan in a deposition read by her attorney on the witness stand.

There was the question of money, for instance. "My money, which I earned, was used to pay all of our living expenses," the plaintiff's story went. "He never worked nor did he ever try to find work."

"Extra power in the pinches" says...THE ENGINEER IN EVERY GALLON

BOTH TYDOL AND TYDOL-ETHYL GASOLINES CONTAIN TOP-CYLINDER OIL

IN THOSE sudden traffic emergencies when you need extra power and need it in a hurry, your motor cannot respond the way it should... unless it has been getting correct top-cylinder lubrication.

That's when you need "the engineer in every gallon"... the special top-cylinder oil that is blended into Tydol Gasoline. For this lubricant, which is also a carbon-solvent, protects valves, piston-heads and upper-cylinders from heat and friction... frees them from rust and carbon.

Your entire motor is in condition, smooth-running, ready to deliver its utmost power in a split second. Let "the engineer in every gallon" give you extra power in the pinches. And don't forget that Tydol Gasoline, with its extra lubricating feature, doesn't cost a penny extra.

"This Gasoline Is Different"

Tydol pays Uncle Sam an extra tax because it contains a special top-cylinder lubricant... yet TYDOL, the lubricating gasoline, does not cost you a penny extra. That is why Uncle Sam says: "This gasoline is different."

Senate To Pick New Tax Plans

Five New Tax Proposals
Are Being Given Consideration

MUST PROVIDE FOR
NEAR $20,000,000

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 20.—Senate leaders today were to pick out from a group of five proposed taxes, though new imposts to bring between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 in new revenue flowing into the state treasury in the next two years.

All five of the proposed levies were on the Senate calendar for final vote. Together they were estimated to yield $20,000,000 in two years, but G. O. P. leaders insisted that all of this sum was needed. A final check of treasury obligations was to precede decision on which taxes to pass.

The five levies in position to be crammed through the legislature today, to be added to roughly $105,000,000 in new revenue already supplied at the session, were:

A one-mill state tax on intangible wealth, such as stocks and bonds, to yield $16,000,000 a year.

A one-mill increase in the mercantile tax, doubling the present levy, to yield $6,000,000.

A one-cent tax on each 25 cents price of admission to amusements, to yield $5,500,000 to $6,000,000.

A stamp tax on cosmetics, to yield $2,000,000.

A two-cent tax on every check drawn on a Pennsylvania bank, to yield $6,000,000.

Added to List
The personal property impost was dragged out of the Senate finance committee last night, to be added to the list of potential emergency revenue measures at the suggestion of Democratic minority leaders. The mercantile tax, once defeated in the Senate, was reviewed and placed on the postponed calendar where it can be called up for action at any time.

Spokesmen for both majority and minority parties agreed only upon the statement that "no one knows which taxes will be passed". The final committee was to total up the biennial appropriations before a decision is reached to determine the commonwealth's aggregate expenditures for the next two years. All of the major appropriation bills were in shape for final action today.

While the problem of balancing the budget still plagued the upper chamber, the series of bills making "flexible" the state's income over the biennium were moved into position for final action. The House had the Owlett bills offering discounts to corporations paying 1936 and 1937 taxes at once up for a final vote and advanced the McClure bills authorizing delay in repayment of money borrowed from special funds into position for final vote tomorrow.

The Senate moved the administration bill authorizing issuance of $50,000,000 in tax anticipation notes forward for a roll call approval tomorrow.

BRITISH DIVORCE SUIT PRINCIPALS

Mrs. Joan Guinness

British society is shocked to learn of a sensational divorce suit involving Prince Ali Khan, heir to the untold wealth of his Highness Prince Aga Khan, and two other members of the empire's wealthiest families. Prince Ali Khan was cited as correspondent in the divorce action being brought by Loel Guinness, member of parliament, against his young and beautiful wife, Mrs. Joan Guinness, above, daughter of a baron. Guinness, heir to his rich banker father, Benjamin S. Guinness, based his suit on alleged misconduct by Mrs. Guinness and the Indian prince.

Proposes Air Fleet Limits

German Ambassador Would Place Limitation On Air Fleets

WORLD CONFERENCE
MAY BE CALLED

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, June 20.—Sharp limitation of air fleets was proposed by Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany today as the next major step in the new European arms set-up.

Germany's suggestion was injected into the closing discussions over the pact whereunder Germany's navy is limited to 35 per cent of Britain's and, according to well-informed quarters, the Reich's air proposals, when known, will create as great a sensation as the ship agreement.

On the basis of the naval compact, Britain began laying plans for a world naval conference in London this autumn to appease the dissatisfaction of France and Italy.

Either a general European naval conference, or a five-power conference of the Washington treaty signatories is projected as a preliminary to the world confab, to which Germany and Russia would be invited.

French, Italian and Russian technical experts have already been invited to come to London, in the order named, to lay the groundwork for the bigger sessions.

While Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of admiralty, referred to the new naval pact as "a benefit to all countries," French and Italian attacks continued unabated.

Merchandising Is Discussed By State Druggists

Question Of Halting Practice Of Druggists Selling General Merchandise

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Metamorphosing drug stores have even the druggists worried these days.

The question of halting of the evolution of the drug dispensary into an emporium of general merchandise is being discussed from all directions by several hundred pharmacists who are attending the annual convention of the State Pharmaceutical association here. They, frankly, are troubled about the over-expanding items of merchandise handled in the modern drug store.

But halting it, they pointed out, has its difficulties for a two-fold reason—cut-throat competition and manufacturers' price cuts. They look toward legislation as the only solution.

Youth Is Wounded By Leadens Slugs

Youth Is Shot By Aged Man Who Believed Boys Were Stealing Cherries

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Seven-year-old James Lampus was recovering in his northside home today from wounds inflicted by leaden slugs fired into his head and face by an 80-year-old man who thought the boy was stealing cherries from his property.

Walter H. Shade, who is accused of firing the slugs, told police he "was tired" of boys breaking the fence around his land and stealing cherries. When he saw a group of boys, among them young Lampus, on an adjoining property, he thought they were on his land and shot at them, striking James.

Physicians said the boy's condition was not serious. Shade, who had been arrested on a charge of felonious shooting, was released on his own recognizance.

DRUGGISTS ARE HOME

Four local druggists, Carl E. Paisley, Clark Snyder, John Wajert and A. J. F. Shafer, have returned here from the 58th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical association which closed its sessions at the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, today.

REPLIES ON PARK SITUATION

Editor The News:

In a letter in your issue of Tuesday, Dick Cook says: "I could beautify this city with half of the expense he (J. D. Alexander) is, and with half the men."

The 1935 budget carries an item: "For care and improvement of parks and forester, $4200.00." Of this amount $1200.00 is paid the forester;

leaving $3000.00 for labor and materials.

I find Mr. Fox is at the present time employing five men, one as day watchman at Gaston park, and two men as night watchmen at Cunningham and Gaston parks.

As is well known, the city was obliged to buy large quantities of tools to be used on city projects under CWA and RWD. The latter refused to furnish watchmen to guard this property. As protection is absolutely necessary, these watchmen are hired and paid out of park funds.

This work of course cannot strictly be called "maintenance of parks," but council seem to feel they have no other fund to tap for this purpose, so that considerable of the money which is supposed to be used for upkeep of parks, as a matter of fact, is not used for that purpose.

This leaves Mr. Fox and two men to do the actual work necessary for maintenance and upkeep of the following: Public Square, West Side park, Laurel boulevard, Mahoningtown park, Jackson park (East Side) Cunningham park, Gaston park, Jameson park, Dean park, Gunton park, the comfort station and the fire departments. They also do some work at the Sewage Disposal plant. Maintenance of Cascade park is provided for from income.

I am well aware that the New Castle parks are not kept up as they should be. This is because the appropriation is inadequate, as everyone at all familiar with the situation knows.

Mr. Alexander and Mr. Fox are doing their best to get as much as possible done with the limited means at their command. The least we as citizens can do is to be fair in making an appraisal of their work.

Yours truly,

MATTHEW GUNTON.

Plan To Exhume
Body Of WomanBelieve Drowned Woman, Buried In Potter's Field Was Wealthy Chicago Woman(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 20.—From the potters' field, limbo of lonely dead, Chicago police planned to exhume today the body of a drowning victim, now believed to have been a well-known and reputedly wealthy Chicago woman.

Worried friends identified a picture of the drowned woman as that of Mme. Mary L. Bosler, 61 years old, former opera singer, and in recent years a voice teacher on the gold coast, who mysteriously vanished on the night of May 27.

Mme. Bosler, who was also active in politics and was vice president of the Republican Women's Club of Illinois and had no reason to take her own life, friends say. They retained a lawyer to press an investigation on the theory she had met with foul play.

To certify the identification made from the posthumous picture in police files, it was determined to disinter the body.

GROVE CITY, June 20.—Petitions recently circulated here against the establishment of a state liquor store in Grove City will be revived with the word announced this week that the state plans to double the number of retail stores and to add four in Mercer county. The reported locations in Mercer county are Mercer, Grove City, Sharpsville and Sandy Lake.

Recently, petitions against the proposal were circulated in local churches, and many signatures were secured. Last year—1934—until a local option vote became effective, was the only year in the community's history when liquor was legally sold here.

Police Can't Make Hubby Obey Wifey

(International News Service)
SOMERVILLE, Mass.—Not even the combined efforts of the police department and his wife could make a local man take his medicine. The police received a telephone call from a woman saying: "My husband is sick. He won't take his medicine. Please send an officer, maybe he'll take it from him." Patrolman Alfred McPadden was sent in a squad car. He reported: "He wouldn't take his medicine for me either. He took a drink of whisky and went to bed."

BODY WAS FULL OF NEURITIS

Indo-Vin Cleared It From Her System; Had Pains All Over Her

MRS. KATHERINE C. BUNDY, of 341 Spruce St., Steelton, Pa., said:

"I had such a terrible case of neuritis that I was almost disabled with it. Those awful pains would strike me in the back of my neck and across my shoulders like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. I tried everything under the sun but nothing helped me until I got Indo-Vin and it has done me more good than everything else PUT TOGETHER. My arms and shoulders are limbered up and the neuritis is gone entirely. You don't know what a blessed relief that is. This is the greatest thing of the kind that EVER CAME HERE. I never saw anything like it and I am PROUD to give you this statement and publicly endorse it to all suffering people." You can get Indo-Vin at Eckerd's drug store, here in New Castle and from all good druggists throughout this whole section.

Convention To Open On Friday

Women's General Missionary Society Of U. S. To Convene At Grove City

EXPECT AT LEAST 350 DELEGATES

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, June 20.—Grove City people, and the five missionary societies of the local United Presbyterian church in particular, await with keen anticipation the opening on Friday evening of the 52nd annual convention of the Women's General Missionary society of the U. P. church in America. Elaborate preparations have been completed by the women of the local church for the entertainment of the 350 official delegates, and hundreds of visitors who will come from all parts of the United States, and several foreign countries, for the national convention.

For months, the local committee, headed by Mrs. R. E. English as general chairman, and Mrs. F. S. Smith, president of the Butler Presbyterian, has been working steadily to assure the success of the huge undertaking. This convention has never before been held in a town as small as Grove City, and it is a remarkable tribute to the local leaders that the convention was voted to Grove City at last year's meeting in Steubenville, O. The Pittsburgh district is the center of United Presbyterianism in America, and many of the visitors will come from this section.

A program that is most comprehensive is announced by the national president, Mrs. E. E. Erskine of Steubenville, O., who has been working closely with local leaders. From the opening session at 7:30 p. m. Friday, until late on the night of June 25, the docket is filled with important speakers, pageants, music and business sessions. Among the speakers will be missionaries from India, Egypt, Ethiopia and the Sudan; nationally-known leaders in mission work, and present and former officials of the national society.

A high spot of the convention will be reached at 10 a. m. next Tuesday, when a service of "Prayer Around the World" will be held. At a time coinciding identically with the local service, similar meetings will be held in all the home and foreign mission posts maintained by the society.

In various sections of this country and Europe, muskrat farms breed the animal solely for fur.

Volant College Groups Return Here Next Week

Many From Distance Will Be Back For Annual Reunion On Old Campus

VOLANT TO TAKE ON GALA ATTIRE

Indications point to one of the biggest reunions ever held by Volant College Alumni, when the annual gathering takes place on the old campus at Volant, next Wednesday, June 26.

President Homer C. Drake and his officers and committees have worked hard to make the coming event a successful one, and responses have been received from many who have not been back to the old school in forty years, stating that they will be present on this occasion.

In addition, the recording secretary, Miss Olive Clinefelter has received many letters from those in widely scattered places who will not be able to attend the reunion this year, expressing their regrets and writing letters which will be of interest to the members. One of these from the greatest distance is that from Attorney Clyde V. Alley, in California.

Formal invitations have been mailed to over 500, most of them to those at a distance, but the officers state that no formal invitation is needed to attend the reunion, these invitations being merely a notice of the date of meeting, and members of the Alumni who have not received an invitation need not feel that they have been slighted.

There are still a few copies of the memory book, which contains a history of the old college and pictures of the early college days, available.

and these can be secured at the reunion.

The committees in charge of the arrangements during the day are as follows:

Music—Frank S. Breneman, Leone Sholler, Dominick Steve and Fred E. Smith.
Grounds and Decorations—T. C. Blevins, H. L. Rudolph, Austin Carr, Warren J. Wilkins, Audley Carr, and Wallace Potter.

Centennial Is Observed

Notable Anniversary Occurs At Burry's Church On Wednesday

FORMER PASTORS ARE ON PROGRAM

(Special To The News)

ZELIENOPLE, June 20—A large crowd was present at each of the services held Wednesday at the St. John's Evangelical Protestant church (Burry's church), Route 68, a short distance from Zellenople. The services in the afternoon and evening were largely attended, the church being filled. It was the 100th anniversary of the organization of the church.

The speakers were Rev. Theodore F. Fischer, former pastor, now of Cambridge, Md. Rev. W. A. Bombard who installed Rev. Fischer when he became pastor of the church in 1909. He is pastor of a large congregation at Sharpsburg, Pa. Rev. Paul P. Pfeiffer, of Springfield, O., who has been here on other occasions. Rev. C. W. White of the Orphan's Home here; Rev. Theodore C. Donald, of the Christ Evangelical church at Cleveland, O., and the present pastor, Rev. H. N. Doerr, who has charge of all services.

The church was organized by about 30 German families who came from Germany and settled in Beaver county. Some of their descendants have been on the church roll through the century and are still members. The first log church was built in 1835, the second in 1859, when Rev. E. S. Winter, the first pastor was still pastor, and the present in 1928, when Rev. Theodore F. Fischer was pastor. It is a fine modern structure.

A daughter, Miss Nettie Winter, who resides here, was present at the anniversary. Rev. Doerr is the seventh pastor of the congregation.

There was special music on the organ, also solos, duets and the choir furnished fine music for all services. Meals were served at noon and in the evening to several hundred people, many coming from a distance to renew old acquaintances, and take part in the service. Booklets were prepared by the congregation and were sold at a nominal cost, with a history of the church. The ground was purchased from the Burry farm and during the 100 years the church has carried that name, "Burry's Church." There are many other interesting features in the booklet of the congregation, and families many of whom arrived in Beaver County in 1832, 33 and 34 and organized the congregation in 1835. Many of these were sold.

In the course of 24 hours more than 10,000,000 persons ride in the elevators of Manhattan.

The paper, torn in two, was offered in evidence by County Detective Sam Riddle, who testified one piece was found at the scene of the shooting, while the second piece was found in a ditch a mile away, where the Migliazzo's car was allegedly stuck. Fitted together, the pieces spelled Migliazzo's name.

Tax Collection Bill Is Killed By Committeemen

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 20.—Death in the senate municipal government committee of which Sen. Max Aron, Philadelphia, is chairman, today ended the hectic career of the controversial Moomaw-Moran bill setting up a unified tax collection system in Pennsylvania estimated to save the taxpayers $3,000,000 a year.
It was reported the bill was lost in committee by a single vote at a midnight meeting called by Aron at the request of various taxpayers organizations. The measure, which would reduce the number of Pennsylvania tax collectors from 2600 to 113 was approved by the house after a bitter fight June 5 after it was amended to provide local option.

Coal Control Bill Will Get Consideration

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Guffey coal control bill will be considered by the Senate after the pending Bankhead farm tenant bill is disposed of. If the current bill provokes protracted debate the leaders agreed today to set it aside for action on the Guffey bill.
The measure would give a federal commission control over the bituminous coal industry, and its quick passage would avert the strike of 400,000 union miners, now set for July 1.
In the House a similar measure is being considered by the ways and means committee, with action unlikely for several days at least.

Labor Disputes Bill Is Drawing Varied Opinion

President Roosevelt Expected To Speedily Sign
Bill Upon Presentation

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Wagner-Connelly labor disputes bill passed the White House today after the house passed it without even a record vote, and sent it back to the senate for adjustment of minor differences between the two bodies.

President Roosevelt will speedily sign the bill, which is hailed by organized labor as a great advance and is denounced by many industrial leaders as the forerunner of labor warfare.

President Green of the A. F. of L. characterized the bill as "the Magna Charta of labor."

May Start Fight.

A possibility exists that a new fight may be started against it in the senate since that body passed it before the supreme court's decision on NRA. Many members of congress believe the court's decision clearly shows the Wagner-Connelly measure is unconstitutional.

House approval came after a five-hour battle, during which backers of the measure suffered defeat only twice.

Indicating dissatisfaction with Secretary of Labor Perkins, the house, by a vote of 130 to 48, knocked out a committee amendment putting the proposed national labor relations board in the labor department.

Drinking At Bar May Be Allowed

Liquor Legislation Is Up For Final Action By
Senate

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Liquor drinking standing up at a bar may receive legislative sanction today.

The senate had up for final vote the two house-approved bills carrying numerous amendments to liquor and beer regulatory laws in which the now effective ban on stand-up drinking at a bar is bracketed out.

Both bills were re-reported from committee in virtually the form they passed the house except that the present system of issuing beer licenses through county treasurers was put back into the bill. The house had voted to give the liquor control board authority to issue beer licenses as well as liquor permits.

In addition to allowing drinking at the bar, the liquor bill permits Sunday sales of drinks in clubs, gives the board control over alcohol, permits establishment of one-man liquor stores with the board having discretionary powers to fix opening and closing hours, and gives liquor agents power of summary arrest.

Moving along with these major bills for a senate vote were other house-approved bills dividing liquor law violation fines equally between the counties and the state, and extending the time for payment of the floor tax until May 31, 1937.

The house approved and sent to the governor the Ziesenheim senate bill allowing home manufacture of wine up to 200 gallons.

KENTUCKY BANKER
MAKES ADDRESS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Continuing the note of optimism current throughout the convention, Max B. Nahm, banker and a director of the Federal Reserve bank at St. Louis, told members of the national association of credit men today that "the world has more confidence in us than we have in ourselves."

Nahm, vice president of the Citizens' National bank of Bowling Green, Ky., declared: "With all our tinkering with our money, our dollar still rates above all other moneys. Since January 1, 1935, eleven hundred millions of gold has gone into this country from other nations. Two hundred millions is the result of the balance of trade, and nine hundred millions is repatriation of American gold and foreign deposits for safe keeping."

The supreme court's "four great decisions" have restored faith in American institutions and our form of government, he said. Tersely, he dismissed the theory that Labor displacement by machines has caused our unemployment. New inventions employ more labor than has been displaced, he asserted.

"We have enough bank laws," Nahm said in commenting on current trends. "What we need is men."

Cement Employees Discuss Safety

Crescent Portland Cement
Company Men Boosting
"Safety First" Idea

Splendid evidence of their interest in safety was shown by the employees of the Crescent Portland Cement company of Wampum on June 17 at a meeting conducted in the Wampum opera house.

Employees got together on their own initiative and the friendly meeting was attended by many of the employees who are unable to be at the regular weekly meetings conducted at the plant. The purpose was to give all an opportunity to express themselves freely and a number of very interesting discussions developed. No officials nor foremen were present.

The meeting proved that the employees are interested in company welfare as well as individual welfare and in the practice of "safety first." They aim not to see how much work they can turn out, but how much they can turn out safely.

The company has painted 93 safety signs at the plant and each person employed has been instructed to report any conditions from which an accident might result. The meeting of employees was in connection with the June "No-Accident" campaign conducted in cement plants throughout the United States and Canada.

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann begs for his life today—two days before the fifth anniversary of baby Lindbergh's birth.

It is judgment day for Hauptmann in New Jersey's highest court.

Fourteen black-robed judges of the state court of errors and appeals were to hear the ex-machine gunner's plea, then decide whether he is entitled to a new trial, a last desperate chance to escape the electric chair in which he is condemned to die for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Hauptmann was not to appear in person before his judges. His fight was in the hands of his three lawyers, Egbert Rosenzweig, Judge Frederick A. Pope and C. Lloyd Fisher. Hauptmann nervously paced his death house cell in the state prison, a mile and a half away.

The defense lawyers base their appeal on 16 points, set forth in a brief 130 pages in length. They charge that many phases of Hauptmann's trial in Flemington early this year were unfair.

They criticize the charge of Justice Thomas W. Trenchard to the jury which found Hauptmann guilty of the "Crime of the Century." They brand the prosecution tactics of Attorney General David T. Wilentz as inflammatory and improper. They attack the testimony of state witnesses. They charge the jury panel was prejudiced against the defendant.

Charge Rights Violated
Significantly, they contend the constitutional rights of the condemned man were violated. They may pave the way to an appeal to the supreme court of the United States if Hauptmann is turned down here.

The sleeping garment worn by the baby the night he was kidnapped and later used by the kidnaper in the heartless $50,000 ransom barter, was to play an important part in the appeal. The defense contends its theft could not constitute a felony because of its slight worth, that the slaying was not done in commission of a felony, as charged by the state.

The state was ready to refute all these contentions and to renew its charge that the evidence overwhelmingly proved Hauptmann guilty.

Mr. Morgan's Miniatures.
Mrs. Coe Eats Cake.
Mr. Dubos Fights Nature.
Mr. Long Wants Chunks.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, of New York, who sold valuable pictures here, and sold them well, proving business ability, in London is selling costly miniatures. One among them shows how much human intelligence can add to the value of inanimate objects. A piece of paper two inches in diameter, cut from a playing card, the "seven of diamonds," is expected to sell for about $15,000. Holbein, the younger, painted a miniature on that piece of paper, one of 800 miniatures that Mr. Morgan will sell.

SOME ASK why Mr. Morgan, who is prosperous, sells works of art that cannot be replaced. The reply might properly be:

"That is my business."
Perhaps he sees ahead conditions in which "real money" will be better than miniatures. Perhaps he believes that some other money might be better than United States money, although it is hard to imagine that, with so big a lump of gold in Uncle Sam's possession, the biggest in the world.

MRS. EVA COO, in Sing Sing, due in the electric chair in ten days, celebrates her birthday with a cake inscribed: "happy birthday." The kind-hearted wife of the prison warden gave her roast chicken, a box of candy, strawberries and ice cream. The cake had no candles, "as a precaution against suicide by fire."

Ours is a queer "civilization," giving cake, candy, ice cream, strawberries and roast chicken one day, turning on the electric current, ten days later.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS and President Roosevelt and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., should have talked to Bernard J. Dubos, distinguished French engineer, going home today after spending two months examining our "sandstorm" regions, and investigating rainfall in many sections of the country from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Mr. Dubos offers scientific facts to prove that sandstorms and the drought can be prevented, and uses the waterspout which the French calls a trombe, to prove it.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS should read Mr. Dubos' address to the Academic Des Sciences Coloniales on a project to build a meteorological tube 600 meters high, imitation of a water spout.

Water spouts start not from the water upward, but from the clouds downward. At the top of the waterspout there is always a vast, extremely dark, heavy cloud, made of water that the spout draws directly up from the sea or from moisture in the air.

AN ARTIFICIAL TUBE, producing the effects of a waterspout, for experimental purposes, in Mr. Dubos' plan, would cost $10,000,000, and require 600,000 tons of cement.

The Dubos plan, for drawing up through his artificial "waterspout" billions of cubic meters of moisture-laden air, as part of a plan for combating dust storms, drought and hurricanes, is worthy of careful study. Man will eventually control weather, and rainfall, and his government might well begin that work now.

THE SENATE rejects Senator Long's proposition to spend five thousand million dollars a year, benevolently, and raise the money by taking "chunks" out of large fortunes.

This process, the Senator's share-the-wealth" idea, might last a little while, but after the large fortunes were all gone, the "share-the-wealth" gentlemen might begin taking "chunks" out of each other. That is how it was in the stone age, before men had agreed on laws permitting each other to keep what belonged to him; Early men even bit "chunks" out of each other. Early "share-the-wealth" advocates were called "anthropophagi."

HOW MUCH money could a country save, with efficient, economical government? In New York it costs $85.28 per person to "govern the city," seventy per cent more than it costs in some other big cities. That worries Mayor La Guardia more than anyone else, and he is saving where he can.

Between 1918 and 1929, New York added to its payrolls 48,123 employees at an added cost of $186,863,027 a year. In the depression, 1929 to 1932, the city took on 16,648 more employees, costing $368,547,038. Politicians, playing with the taxes, are expensive.

IN PARIS, ten policemen are hurt in a riot with angry laborers. The riot was a protest against explosion from France of all foreign workers, intended to keep French jobs for Frenchmen. In the riot one lady bit a policeman.

In a Kansas coal mine, owned by the state penitentiary, 380 convicts mutinied, seized eleven officials 730 feet down in the mine and held them as hostages.

It is a troublesome age, aftermath of a stupid war—and we may have another.

SENATOR NORRIS, of Nebraska, who might be the Republican candidate for President, of the Republican convention should be intelligent, quite a large "IF" doesn't think the Supreme Court should overrule Congress by a 5-to-4 vote. He makes no attack on the NRA decision, approved by 100 per cent of the court. Senator Norris would demand more than a "two-thirds vote" to veto a law, and attack on any law must be made within six months after its passage.

New Grove City Bridge Nearing Completion Now

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, June 20.—The new bridge over Wolf creek at North street will be open for travel some time next week. It is reported by officials of the Reliance Steel Products Co., of Rankin, the contractor. The actual construction work is completed, and only the painting of the steel work remains. Macadamized approaches to the bridge were completed yesterday, while a crew of 12 men were applying the first coat of paint to the superstructure. Unless rains interfere, the bridge will be ready for the inspection of county commissioners early next week.

The bridge, extending 100 feet across Wolf creek, has been under construction since January 10. During February and March, abnormally high water delayed the work, compelling the contractor to erect coffer dams in building the piers. The

Officers Recall First Days On City Force

Immediately after a young man is sworn in as a policeman his first thought is of protecting the public and he is on "pins and needles" until he has broken the ice with his first arrest which today recalled at the police station of how two of them performed when they made their first arrest.

After trying to inveigle some of them into describing their experiences Chief of Detectives W. G. McMullen whom was assigned to teach some of the points to Patrolman Ray Showalter said:

"Showalter and I rode around the city. Soon we saw a drunken man supported by a telephone pole. Showalter got out of the patrol and seized the man by his coat. He shook the man until he awakened.

"And now that I told that on Ray, I'll tell one on myself" said McMullen. He explained that the first day he was on the force a call came that a man was being beaten up and robbed in Neshannock avenue.

"The car was filled with police and we wheeled out toward the scene. As soon as the crowd saw us they took off in all directions. One ran toward the city and I 'legged' after him.

"I had always believed that when a policeman commanded a man to stop he would do so but I learned differently. The man had the speed of an Owens so I discharged my revolver into the air.

"This increased his speed and he turned toward the Neshannock creek, leaped over a wall, waded through the water and ran down Croton avenue. He escaped.

"The other police seized the supposed robbers and found that all the 'robbery' consisted of was a wrestling match. In fact the men did nothing to warrant arrest said McMullen.

Years have passed since they made their first arrest. Showalter has had some thrilling experiences, likewise McMullen and like other police they smile when they recall their first day in a policeman's uniform.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own drugist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. says "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back."

Banking Control Measure Doubtful

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Senate leaders have abandoned hopes of enacting at this session that section of the new banking legislation which would centralize credit control in the Federal Reserve board.

To this end a resolution to extend temporarily the present temporary Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation laws limiting deposit insurance to $5,000 is being drafted. Under existing law the deposit limitation for insurance will jump to $10,000 June 30 unless Congress acts. Finally, title three of the pending banking legislation, making changes in existing banking law, may be attached to the resolution.

Approve Plan To Borrow Millions

Short Term Notes To Be Issued By State To Meet Temporary Needs

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 20.—By a vote of 201 to 1 the House Wednesday approved and sent to the Senate a bill drafted by attorney general Charles J. Margiotti to enable the state's fiscal officers to borrow up to $500,000 on short term notes at 4 1/2 per cent in anticipation of tax payments.

No debate preceded the roll call and the measure was expected to be approved by the Republican Senate since it has been approved by state treasurer Charles A. Waters, a Republican.

The House also approved and sent to the upper branch an amendment exempting promissory notes and documents for charitable, religious and educational purposes, from the recently enacted emergency documentary stamp tax act.

Shouts of "Noes" and hoots and catcalls greeted Rep. H. G. Andrews, Cambria, when he offered a resolution providing that instead of adjourning finally next Friday the legislature merely recess until the first Monday of November. Only a dozen members voted for the Andrews resolution which would save the state the expense of paying the legislators their salaries if they were called for a special session and it was defeated.

Earth Shocks Felt On Coast

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Awakening residents in several sections of Los Angeles and Pasadena, four earthquake shocks, two of them said to be intense enough to cause damage at the point of origin, were recorded Wednesday on the instruments of the Carnegie Seismological Institute in Pasadena.
The first and strongest shock occurred at 1:56 a. m. and centered about 300 miles away.
Another strong tremor was felt distinctly. Aside from rattling windows and dishes and stopping clocks, no serious damage was reported. This quake originated about 50 miles from Pasadena.

Santa Ana reported a quake rattled windows and dishes but caused no damage.

Unwittingly, the mother had given him a glass of sulphuric acid instead of the medicine she kept in a similar bottle.

Senator Couzens Donates $550,000 For Experiment

To Build Colony Of Model Farm Homes For Factory Workers

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., June 20.—Donation of $550,000 by U. S. Senator James Couzens of Michigan for a "social-economic experiment"—building of a colony of model farm homes where automobile factory workers can grow their own foods during leisure time and seasonal layoffs—was announced today.

The "industrial farms" will be located on a 1,000 acre plot near Pontiac, and they may become the cornerstone for similar developments near other cities in the state.
Disclosure of the huge gift, made to the federal government, came in an announcement from William J. Norton, secretary of the children's fund of Michigan, and Dr. William Haber, administrator for the state emergency relief setup.
The donation, it was formally stated, has been accepted by Federal Progress Director Harry L. Hopkins.

TIRES MAY LOOK ALIKE ON THE OUTSIDE ON THE INSIDE THEY ARE DIFFERENT

HEAT on the inside created by friction is the main cause of blowouts. Firestone Tires are different on the inside—they are built with the patented extra process of Gum-Dipping that soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped.

When you realize that there were 882,000 automobile accidents in 1934, injuring 954,000 people and killing 36,000, and that 43,000 of these accidents were caused by blowouts, punctures and skidding, you will be more interested in the make of tires you use on your car.

Firestone performance records again emphasize the undisputed evidence that Firestone Tires are not only blowout-proof, but give greatest protection against skidding. There are three questions and answers that will solve the problem of what tires to buy:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes. For eight consecutive years Firestone tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

QUESTION 2—"Are they blowout-proof?"

ANSWER—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Kelly Petillo won the race and broke the record over this 26-year-old rough brick track without tire trouble—in fact, not one of the 33 drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles in 23½ hours, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

ANSWER—Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile. This is made possible by the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This thick, rugged, scientifically designed tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread. This is a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequalled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

Ryantown-Mahoning Game Ends In Dispute At End Of Third

RYANTOWN PLANS REORGANIZATION

J. Pluv put a damper on most of the games in the Lawrence County Baseball League and incidentally is held somewhat responsible for a rumormongering of the circuit will have to handle the situation.

According to reports from Mahoning's manager, Cangey, Ryantown left the field at the end of three and one-half sessions, but according to Ryantown the game once was called and when the umpire, Gibbons, ordered play resumed the rain had chased some of the players home. Mahoning was ahead 6-0.

Secretary James Vessella has been ordered to draft a schedule of games postponed and to assign playing dates so that there will be no tie-up when the date for the first half to end arrives. If necessary, the teams will be ordered to play every day.

The Hillsville-Mahoning aggregations are scheduled to play at Mahoning in a twilight game today and the American Sheet & Tin Plate players have been ordered to hold a practice at 6 p. m. today in preparation for their playing off of a postponed game Friday.

In the meanwhile all Castlewood players have been ordered to report for practice and games as usual as the team has not and will not be disbanded. Alec Nelson has been named manager and they will start their first game under his leadership at West Pittsburgh Saturday.

Ryantown will reorganize at 8 p. m. at Hunters, Friday. At present, Jimmie Maher is running the team and George Bunnell is manager now. When the session is called Friday it is expected that some new blood may be added to the team. Ryantown has a host of followers and the ball players themselves want to put up only the best ball possible.

The games scheduled for Saturday are: Bessemer at Wampum; umpires, Braky and Gibbons. A. S. & T. P. at Ellwood City; umpires, Adams and Hill. Carbon at Ryantown; umpires, Keller and Van Dyke. Castlewood at West Pittsburgh; umpires, McConaghy and A. Price.

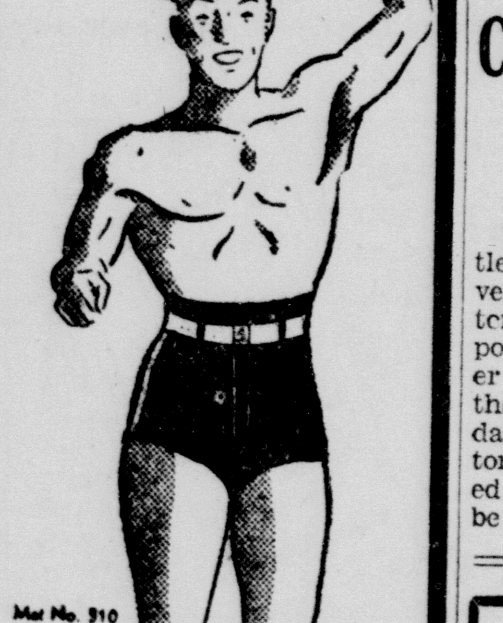

East Brook And Merchants Tie

East Brook A. A. baseball team tied with the East New Castle baseball team at the East New Castle field last night 2-2. The game was halted in the seventh on account of rain, and darkness. The game was a pitching battle between Covert for East Brook and Tanner for the East New Castles.

Covert allowed just four hits and whiffed two men, while Tanner was a little more stingy and allowed but three hits and fanned three men. The game will be played over a later date.

Hoffman Contends Baer "Changed" Fighter In Ring

Maxie Baer Was Not Himself Night He Lost Title To Braddock, Is Claim

Somebody Knew That Maxie Baer's Hands Were Sore, Braddock Took Advantage

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 20.—Open and unqualified charges of interference and tampering with Max Baer before his losing fight with Braddock last week were aired with considerable freedom today by the ex-champion's manager, Ancil Hoffman, in an exclusive statement to the press.

He said Baer was a "changed man" from the moment he hit New York the day before the fight. He mentioned a pent house in which this remarkable change was alleged to have taken place. He quoted a scene in the dressing room in which bandages, prescribed by Hoffman, were materially altered while his back was turned.

Something Wrong
In a word, somewhere in between the time they arrived in New York from a training camp and the moment when Baer entered the ring to make one of the most grotesque fights of all history, somebody seems to have permanently borrowed Mr. Hoffman's prize fighter.

"I don't want to make direct accusations until I'm sure of exactly what happened," Hoffman said. "I'm going to find out, however. Baer entered the ring with bad hands and we let him do it, thinking he had a cinch. We made a mistake there and we freely admit it now."

Big Difference
"But that doesn't account for the almost incredible change in Baer from the moment he hit New York the day before the fight. I allowed him to go to the pent house of L. . . (naming a man who was nationally prominent in sports some years ago) and was busy with details about the fight for the next thirty six hours. I kept in touch with him there and I finally became uneasy when I noticed the great change in him."

"He had been confident before Asbury Park. Now he seemed low, dispirited and inclined to treat the fight as of no great importance. I tried to reason with him but couldn't seem to make him change his attitude."

Baer Was Nervous
At the arena, Hoffman said he was surprised to note that Baer was nervous, a somewhat unusual symptom for this boisterous young man. In this, by the way, the manager is supported by Dr. William Walker, boxing commission physician, who said Baer's blood pressure of 150, as compared with 128 a few days before, indicated "extreme nervousness."

Anyhow, Hoffman, aware that Baer's hands were not right, claims to have obtained the sanction of Commission Chairman Phelan for extra heavy bandages and these were applied before he left the then champion's dressing room. He then repaired to Braddock's quarter and was gratified to note that the then challenger also was abundantly bandaged from knuckles to wrists. Meaning that there would be no protest from either side when the fighters entered the ring.

Tip-Off On Hands
"I felt pretty good," Mr. Hoffman confided today, gloomily. "But when I got back to Baer, all bets were off. So were the bandages he'd removed and had his hands covered with only the thin protection of six feet of gauze, with no tape whatever."

"When I asked him what he meant by this, he complained that his hands were so sore that he couldn't stand the pressure of heavy tape and gauze."

"You're telling me that now," I said, bitterly, and then a moment later, realized that he had tipped our condition to one of Braddock's camp who was standing there listening to it all. His report must have given Braddock just the confidence he needed to go out there and fight as he did in the early rounds but that doesn't matter now."

Increase Hours Of Sunday Sports

New Bill In Harrisburg Would Add Two More Hours To Sunday Baseball Time

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 20.—Two more hours of Sunday baseball are provided in bills legalizing Sunday tennis and polo before Gov. George H. Earle for signature today.

By riders attached to the McGeehan polo bill and the Coyne tennis bill, the house provided that the hours of Sunday baseball now played from 2 to 6 in the afternoon under the Schwartz act, be increased from 1 to 7 at night. The rider which slipped through in the last minute rush was intended to encourage baseball double-headers and was approved by the senate.

Will Pay Tax
Patrons of Sunday sports will be required to pay a 20 per cent tax on admissions if the senate approves the Gates bill which the house passed last night.

The polo and tennis bills legalize those sports between 1 and 7 p. m. The polo bill contains a local option section permitting voters to ban the sport by referendum, but the tennis bill carries no such provisions. The polo bill was approved by the house 113 to 63 and the tennis bill 120 to 56 and sent to the governor, who has Sunday motion pictures also before him for consideration.

Under the Schwartz act passed in 1933, baseball and football can be played between 2 and 6, but the riders in the polo and tennis bills provide "where by the provisions of existing law it is lawful to conduct, stage and play any other sport between 2 and 6 p. m. It shall hereafter be lawful to conduct, stage and play such sports between 1 p. m. and 7 p. m."

Giants-Pirates To Open Series

Pittsburgh Will Fight For Leadership In Series With New York Giants

INDIANS SPLIT IN TWIN BILL

By TONY PUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 20.—Five and a half games ahead, the New York Giants today open a four game series with their nearest competitors, the Pittsburgh Pirates, after two days of card playing and lobby sitting.

With single games today and tomorrow and a twin bill Saturday, the Pirates have the opportunity of tightening the National League drum, or falling further behind Bill Terry's smooth running machine, as did the St. Louis Cards.

Despite their deficit, the Pirates are conceding nothing to the Giants, as evidenced by their 12 wins in the last 16 games, while the men from Harlem won 11 in a like number. The Buccaneers are seemingly undaunted by the loss of Arky Vaughan, hard-hitting shortstop, and their rookie mound sensation, Cy Blanton, who is resting from an attack of appendicitis.

Games Washed Out
The Bucs and Giants were washed out of their initial encounter yesterday, while the Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers, and the Cards at Philadelphia were forced off the diamond by rain and a heavy field.

The Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves split a double-header in two fine pitching battles. In the opener, Bob Smith held the Cubs to seven hits, while Lon Warneke gave up six, the Braves winning out 2 to 1. Bill Lee, Cubs' hurler, outpitched Huck Betts in the nightcap, allowing the Braves five sparsely scattered blows, as Phil Cavaretta, 19-year-old first sacker, drove in all three runs. The Cubs won 3 to 0.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept both ends of a double-header with the Detroit Tigers. The Yanks drove out 16 hits in the opener to win 13 to 3, in a game which saw homers by Lou Gehrig, Ervin Fox and Gerald Walker, and a comeback by Lefty Gomez. In the nightcap the Yanks scored three runs in the twelfth to win out, 7 to 6.

Indians Split
Aided by two homers by Hal Trosky, and one by Odell Hale, the Cleveland Indians won the nightcap from the Washington Senators, 10 to 5, after the Senators had won the opener of the bargain bill, 11 to 8, after getting all 11 runs in the last two innings.

In St. Louis the Boston Red Sox and the Browns split a double-header. The Red Sox took the opener, 8 to 5, behind good pitching by Wesley Ferrell, but dropped the nightcap, 6 to 3.

Horse Racing Bill Is Up In Senate Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 20.—Successful in their attempt to eliminate amendments which would have assured defeat for the bill, advocates of the house-approved bill legalizing horse racing and pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania today were hopeful of obtaining sufficient votes to send the measure through the senate.

The bill was up for final vote with amendments which would have legalized dog racing and cut out the local option feature removed from the measure.

Unions-Radiators To Battle Friday

Biggest Soft Ball Battle Of Year Expected At Centennial Field Friday Night

If the rain will just hold off Friday night, one of the biggest soft ball battles of the year will be staged at Centennial field at 6 o'clock sharp. The National Radiators, leaders of the city soft ball league, will tangle with the Unions in a crucial engagement. The Unions hold a 6 to 5 victory over the two years champions earlier in the season.

Norman "Cannonball" Bishara will no doubt draw the assignment against the Brewers, with Manager "Texie" Richards selecting either Frank Babs, who beat the Rads before, or Al Ritchie to hurl them. Second choice with Manager Howard Reed will be Andy Beres, a dependable veteran hurler. The soft ball fans of New Castle are marveling at the speed with which Bishara is throwing them plateward. He hopes to silence the Brewers bats tomorrow night.

In event of good weather the biggest crowd of the year will no doubt wend its way to Centennial field to watch these two natural rivals tangle. It was announced today that Clem General will be with the Unions as coach and catcher for the rest of the season. Nick Biondi will play first base.

Following are the probable lineups:
Radiators Unions
Hilton l.f. Merando
Ambrosia c.f. Clause

B. Lutz 1 b. Biondi
E. Lockley l.s. Scarnati

TODAY'S DRAWING LESSON

Intermediate between dogs and bears, raccoons somewhat resemble dogs but walk on the soles of their feet and have grinding teeth like bears. A sleepy fellow in the daytime, the raccoon makes up for it at night, spending a great deal of his time in the trees which he runs up and down like a squirrel. His feeding habit, now an instinct, makes the raccoon dampen all of his food, for as a rule he feels for most of what he eats under stones in the watercourses. Their fur is valuable with the result that man and his traps are the coon's chief enemy.

Few Issues Lose As Much
As Three Points As Selling
Side Appears

By LESLIE GOULD (International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Faced with the news of President Roosevelt's "soak the rich" tax program, Wall street turned to the selling side today and leading issues suffered losses running to 3 points or more.

While trading slowed down after an opening burst of liquidation, which saw blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares on the tape and the ticker hard pressed to keep with the market, the list showed no rallying power of any consequence and the lower drift continued.

Railroad shares were unsettled by a break of about 2 points in Union Pacific. Great Northern Preferred sold down fractionally. New York Central, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific also were fractionally lower.

Hardest hit were some "blue chip" favorites. These included Allied Chemical, American Can and Eastman Kodak where losses ran to 3 points.

Westinghouse, Chrysler, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J. and Johns Manville suffered losses of more than a point.

Consolidated Gas and American Water Works steadied and rallied after an opening burst of selling had put them nearly a point under yesterday's close. North American, Public Service and other power and light favorites held in a relatively narrow range.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and other steel and industrial shares turned quiet after the first hour. General Motors held fractionally lower as did most of the other auto shares, motor equipments were heavy.

Liquor shares were adversely affected by the weakness in National Distillers. Foods, oils, aviation and specialties moved in unison with other sections of the list.

Commodity markets were heavy with wheat down about a cent a bushel, while cotton lost about 25 cents a bushel.

Inspection Car
Strikes Auto At Railroad Crossing

Three Men Injured In Accident
At B. & O. Crossing
Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, June 20.—Two local men are in the hospital and one other was slightly injured, when an inspection car ran into an automobile at the B. & O. crossing in Frisco.

According to a report given to local police, the auto was driven by William Sharp Fullerton of New Castle, R. D. 8. The inspection car was run by Dominic Fanno, crew foreman of the B. & O. railroad. The inspection car went onto a side track to allow a train to pass and when it started to leave it ran into the side of the Fullerton auto. He and Fanno were only slightly injured. But two crew members on the inspection car necessitated hospital attention. They were Cayentario Mendoc and Domingo Romo of this city. Their condition is not serious.

Mrs. Maxwell Is Hostess To Club

ELLWOOD CITY, June 20.—Mrs. James Maxwell delightfully entertained the members of the G. G. Club at her home on Fifth street.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the evening with two tables in play. Miss Grace McKim and Mrs. Howard Isenberg won the high score awards at the conclusion of the games.

A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess at a later hour. Miss Mildred Hall invited the club to meet at her home on Sixth street in two weeks.

Plan Inquest In Slaying Of Woman At Johnstown, Pa.

"Neighbor Boy" Has Confessed To Killing Of Aged Woman In Her Home

(International News Service) JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 20.—With the confessed slayer behind jail bars at Ebensburg, the formal inquest into the brutal murder of Mrs. Harriet Goldstein, 79-year-old Johnstown widow, was scheduled to get under way here this afternoon, one day earlier than previously planned.

Expected to be a mere formality with little more than the reading of the confession signed by Jacob Gable, 20, the "neighbor boy" who beat and stabbed Mrs. Goldstein to death Monday, the inquest was advanced to speed completion of the case.

Gable related to police with no show of emotion or remorse how he killed the woman because she knew he had committed a local robbery, and then bought a new suit and went on a "date" the same evening. He was held incommunicado in the county jail at Ebensburg following his plea of guilty before a local magistrate.

Braham Candidate For County Judge

Widely Known Attorney Announces Entry Into Race For Nomination

W. WALTER BRAHAM

I am a candidate for the office of judge of Lawrence county on the Republican ticket. The office is an exalted one. The two judges of Lawrence county are the persons selected by their fellows to have in charge the property, the persons, the good name and even the lives of almost one hundred thousand people. Upon their knowledge of the law the most weighty matters of property and family may depend; upon their sense of justice and human sympathy the entire course of the lives of many citizens may depend. A good judge must be a fearless and resolute man who can temper justice with mercy. He must be a man thoroughly grounded in the learning of his profession, yet who understands human nature and can make allowance for the frailties of men. He must have a keen sense of justice, a hatred of oppression and intolerance and must be a person before whom the high, the low, the rich and the poor alike may go with confidence in his sincerity and his impartiality.

It is perfectly obvious from the above statement that it is impossible for any man to be a perfect judge, but a man whether candidate or not must be tested by his aspirations as well as by his accomplishments. The voters will have to choose among those candidates who present themselves that one who possesses in the highest degree the qualities essential to the office.

My life since a small boy has been lived in Lawrence county. My law practice since 1922 has been most general in character, including considerable trial experience in the courts of Lawrence county and elsewhere.

It is my belief that the office of judge should not be a political office. It is an office that should be administered solely in the interest of justice to all. I do not offer myself as the candidate of any political faction or leader but invite all persons who love fair play and good government to support me.

Respectfully submitted,
W. WALTER BRAHAM

THEY'RE SAFEST!

GENUINE HYDRAULIC BRAKES cost more to put on a car, but any Plymouth or DeSoto owner will tell you he would not ever again have a car without them. They are the simplest type of brake, the most reliable and the safest. They use no rods or cables, no joints to get loose and rattle, or wear or rust out.
